

ARAB DENTAL

1 special- issues per year | AEEDC

Readership:

Practising dentists, dental departments of hospitals and health centres, private dental clinics, specialists in oral surgery and orthodontics, dental technicians, dental laboratories, hospital administrations, dental clinics of the armed forces, public health service authorities, ministries, trading companies/agencies.

Arab Dental is the only dental journal published exclusively in Arabic for the entire Arabic language area. Arab Dental is doing justice to the needs of Arabic dentists and dental technicians with regard to information and further education, particularly through practice orientated articles on new therapy techniques and reports on the work with new materials. Arab Dental is therefore a forum for and mediator between the global dental medicine and dental technology industry and suppliers to the Arabic language area.
